According to recent news reports, Wolf River Electric is currently facing a lawsuit from the Minnesota Attorney General due to allegations of deceptive sales practices regarding their solar panel installations, including misleading customers about cost savings, using high-pressure tactics, and tricking homeowners into signing binding contracts with hidden fees; many customers claim they were not properly informed about the total cost of their solar systems and experienced significant issues with installation and functionality after signing contracts. ☀

Key points about the lawsuit against Wolf River Electric:

Deceptive marketing:

The lawsuit alleges that Wolf River Electric salespeople exaggerated the potential cost savings from solar panels, often claiming customers would no longer receive electricity bills after installation, which is not accurate. ☀

High-pressure tactics:

Customers reported feeling pressured to sign contracts quickly, with sales representatives downplaying concerns and using misleading language. ☀

Hidden fees:

Some customers claim they were not adequately informed about additional fees associated with financing their solar systems, leading to unexpectedly high costs. ☀

Installation issues:

Complaints include issues with the quality of solar panel installations, including improper connections to the grid and malfunctioning panels. ☀
